DEMOCRATS HAIL VOTE IN ILLINOIS

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, April 13.—The avalanche of votes rolled up by Democratic candidates in yester-day's Illinois primaries was hail-ed today by administration politi-cal generals as the answer to recent Republican claims that the New Deal is slipping. Not until the final official figures are made available a few days hence will it be possible to compute the definite percentage of Democratic preponderence, but already the returns indicate the significant conclusion that Illinois, the most important of the here-tofore pivotal states of the great middle west, is certain to continue its present Democratic complexion the forthcoming congressional

1,600,000 Cast Votes. Briefly told, the national signifcance of the Illinois primaries rests on the fact that Democratic candidates polled an estimated to-tal of upwards of 1,600,000 votes against 600,000 for their Republican opponents. Impartial observers agree that there is only one interpretation to place on such one-sided figures: That candidates of the party in power will prevail handsomely in the approaching off-year elections. Because of its position as the largest and most populous of the middlewestern commonwealths, a state which prior to 1932 seemed safely anchored to the Republican mooring mast, observers have awaited with keen interest the outcome of the primaries there this week, expecting to see in the re-sults some barometer of the current political trend. All the signs point to a repetition of what hap-pened in 1936. Then with a spir-ited contest on in the Republican presidential preferential primary between the three leading candidates of the party for the presi-dency—Governor Alf Landon, of Kansas; Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho—the great pre-ponderance of Democratic primary votes cast foreshadowed the later landslide victory of the Roosevelt New Deal ticket

No F. D. R. Issue.

Administration leaders in Washington insist that there was no issue fought out in the Illinois primary involving Roosevelt prestige. Both of the Democratic senatorial candidates contesting for the seat of Senator William H. Dieterich retiring party incumbent, were friendly to the national admin-istration. Representative Scott Lueas, successful candidate of the Horner faction, is regarded as about as much of a New Dealer as former Representative Michael Igoe, supported by the Kelly-Nash Chicago machine.

leaders were well pleased with the primary, maintaining confidently that Illinois is still overwhelmingly in the Democratic column.

Daladier Cracks Strike Movement, Sends Thousands to Work.

PARIS, April 13.—(P)—Premier Edouard Daladier's national defense cabinet tonight whipped together a plan for using its almost dictatorial powers to strengthen France at home and abroad.

His cabinet, the first in many years to gain an almost unanimous vote of confidence in both houses of parliament, also won what was practically a free hand to govern France as it thought fit until August.

ployes and delayed France's rearmament program.

Daladier has promised he would not use i is power to establish exchange control or revaluate the Bank of France's gold.

"Those who speculated on the division of Frenchmen were wrong again." Daladier told the senate before it adjourned.

The premier struck at labor agistors with a warning that his government would put an end to political strikes.

As the evening performance began, representatives of the management and of the American Federation of Actors (AFL), representing the strikers, were still in conference on the wage dispute that caused the strike. The state labor relations board arranged the meeting.

Shortly before last night's engagement, union property men, animal handlers, riggers, baggage men, tractor drivers, wardrobe employes and porters quit work and began picketing the show.

John Ringlind North, executive head of the circus, said Mayor F. H. LaGuardia had offered his office as a neutral meeting ground but that the union had rejected the offer.

Trio Twist Bars in DeKalb Jail and Escape; One Caught in 2 Hours.

Three desperadoes-two saferackers and a highwaymanbroke from their DeKalb county jail cell early yesterday morning but for the stickup man it was a brief respite of sunshine.

Paul Edwards, alias B. F. Head, of Birmingham, serving 15 years on conviction of a "ride-rob job" in Grant park last winter, was recaptured two hours after the break in a Forsyth street hotel.

J. R. Hurt, 29, listed as of 309 Pulliam street, serving a sentence for safecracking, and Harold Teal, 23, listed as of 347 Pulliam street, sentenced in connection with the same safecrasking job, were the others. They were still at liberty last night.

Edwards was captured in the hotel by DeKalb County Police Chief J. T. Dailey and Atlanta Detectives B. E. Blair and A. B. Mc-Naughton. The fugitive had registered at the hotel only a few minutes before.

Later he told Chief Dailey, the officer said, that he and Teal came to Atlanta together, separating just before Edwards took the hotel room. He said he did not know which direction Hurt went. Once back in jail, Edwards said, "I've had a busy day for such a brief bit of freedom." Jail officials said the prisoners tore loose a rusty crossbar at the bottom of their cell block and used it to break three other bars, thus making an opening through which they crawled to liberty. Once outside they hid on the top of the cell block in a three-foot space just under the roof of the jail. Ed Ross, turnkey, unlocked the outer door to that part of the jail a little later, and while he was in the rear of the cell block, the prisoners crawled from the hiding and escaped through the basement. The alarm was spread by a negro working around the jail, who saw them go.

Let's keep Georgia in its traditional attitude of encouragement to industrial and business development. Such growth will add to the prosperity of agriculture—the bedrock on which our state is founded. It will furnish employment to men and boys on the farms, men and boys not now profitably employed. It will add to their purchasing power. It will furnish rich new markets for farm produce - and it will leave fewer among whom farm income must be shared; fewer to depend on agriculture for their sole support ... Georgia always will be fundamentally agricultural, but in the interest of everybody in the state - in the interest of better roads, better educational facilities, better institutions and added social security-let's give serious thought to industry and business, the forces which must create the new wealth essential to support all these governmental services so desirable for the welfare of the state. - P. S. ARKWRIGHT, president of the Georgia Power Company, in a speech delivered in Columbus, Georgia, April 6, 1938.

Simple as A.B.C

EVERY straight-thinking Georgian wants Georgia to have better roads, better educational facilities, better-equipped institutions, better provisions for social security for old and young.

Georgia, however, always has been and always will be primarily an agricultural state - and AGRICULTURE CAN NOT PAY THE BILL!

Agriculture, today, is paying all it can afford to pay. It can't stand any heavier burdens.

If our state is to have what it needs - what it MUST HAVE - in the way of governmental services, there is only one solution. Business and industry in Georgia must be encouraged to grow, to prosper. That's the only way the state's material wealth, its purchasing power can be increased so that we can afford these desirable improvements in Georgia.

Any blow at industry or business in Georgia is a direct blow at Georgia's farmers - and a blow at every man, woman and child in Georgia. Georgia's ONLY hope for her rightful, brighter future is that industry and business find the sort of treatment and consideration in Georgia that will enable them to expand in confidence, to grow with assurance — and thereby create in Georgia the new and added wealth which is absolutely essential to the forward march of the state.

WAYCROSS, Ga. April 13.—(P)
Postal Inspector J. A. Miller, in Atlanta, today revealed a man listed as Arthur Armstead Arnold, 50, of Waycross, was held in the Ware county jail here in default of $1,000 bail following arraign-ment before United States Commissioner Walter Thomas on a charge of robbing the mails of approximately $1,300.

Miller said Arnold, a railway postal clerk for 30 years, had contessed pilfering the mails for a period of "six or eight years." He had been assigned to the Waycross-Montgomery run since 1912, and at the time of his arrest Monday night was clerk in charge of trains 180 and 189.

The postal inspector said the case was "one of the biggest postal theft cases ever uncovered" in the south. He added a total of $943.10 had been recovered, and quoted Arnold as saying he would restore the balance of the stolen

Miller said when Arnold was the clerk's supply box, $100 in his grip, $43 on his person, and $15, which Arnold described as per-sonal funds, in his "scheme book."

And they had little hand bombs which they would toss overboard. They'd not do a lot of damage, being no larger than hand grenades. Everyone knows they are rela-Everyone knows they are relatively harmless, being capable of killing and wounding only a few men, say eight or 10. Isn't that a laugh?

Later on, they had some bombs which weighed as much as 50 pounds, great big things three or four feet long. They looked pretty crude, those modern bombs of the late years of the war. They'd tear a hole in any street or building. PILOTS CARRIED RIFLES, REVOLVERS

The machine guns, too, got better. At first, in the earl years of the war, the pilots carried rifles and revolvers. It was late in the war before those jamming machine guns came into being.

Wasn't that sissy?

And Germany made 92 raids on London during the World War, using Zong and they killed wr. using Zeps, and they killed a mere 1,400 people. Paris lost a few from "Big Berthas" and the planes.

That was just child's play.
So I am sure one and all will have a big, hearty laugh at what a tea party the World War was with only 14,000,000 killed and wounded and very few people hurt in the

The Italians and Germans, with the Spanish people as their guinea pigs, have been working with a new 500-pound bomb. They tried this one on the Spanish people in Barcelona, and about 500 of them were killed in a couple of raids. That will give you a rough idea of what we may expect. Barcelona isn't crowded as is London and if the Germans could make 92 raids in the last war with Zeps and planes what they were then, how many will they be able to make in the next one?

Maybe you are all sore about your income tax and about taxes in general and about the government and so forth and so on. You ought to pick out a nice European country and move to it. Then you could build your bomb-proof shelter in your house, only it wouldn't direct hit. You could take little Joan or Mary downtown and, when she had her second birthday or even her first, get her all fitted out with a gas mask. You could get your own at the same You time and one for the wife. And the other kids. You could join right in with paying taxes for sions and other social legislation for which England has been paying taxes for years.

NIGHT OUT NOW AND THEN

TO PRACTICE FOR BOMBS It would be possible to get a night out now and then and re-port for training for work in your community when the gas bombs come down in the next war. You'd have the jitters every time a crisis came, as it did here when Hitler marched, because Hitler and Goering already have announced there will be no dec-laration of war. When they get ready the first announcement will be the sound of their planes overhead and the dropping of bombs. It likely will come at night and probably on some foggy night when other planes won't be able through the smoke to spot a target for your anti-aircraft battery. You ought to see some of the new 500-pound bombs. They are real pretty, in a grim and ugly sort of prettiness. They have new, shiny parts and they cost about enough to build a nice home for a working man and his kids. I mean one within his income reach. There won't be any little feather darts tossed out of planes in the next war, nor any bricks or little bombs about the size of a hen egg. Or any super bombs, such as they closed the last World War with, 25 and 50-pounders.

The French and the English were able to repair the bomb damage to streets and to remove cost of the building damage with most of the building damage with-in a few hours after the eggs were "laid" in the last World War. They will be a long time repairing the next ones. It will be after the war is done and new bond issues are made and a new civilization comes along. A REAL WAR.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 14, 1938.

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES The Fulton county grand jury, in a startling statement issued Tuesday, declared it has "clear evidence" of graft against a number of law enforcement officers of the county and of the city of Atlanta.

The revelations made in this statement, together with others promised when indictments against the accused officers are drawn, demands full airing at the earliest possible moment. Only by fullest publicity and unswerving determination to weed out any guilty officers can the confidence of the citizens as a whole in their police forces be restored.

That the exposure begun will be pushed to its ultimate outcome, regardless of individuals affected, is assured by the caliber of personnel of the grand jury. It has made a good start in its effort to rid the community of a cancerous sore and it will undoubtedly carry the work through to completion.

While every citizen is vitally concerned in the situation exposed it is, probably, the honest police officers-constituting the great majority -who are most vitally interested. Until their ranks are purged of all individuals unworthy of the trust reposed in them, the accusations reflect upon every man in each police force. They, above all others, will insist on complete airing of the charges of crookedness and graft against any of their fellow officers.

That there should be direct partnership between police officers and the forces engaged in illegitimate enterprises is a shocking charge. While such conditions exist there can be no health in the civic body. It is as a cancerous growth that poisons the entire community and the only true remedy is fearless wielding of the knife, to cut it out before it destroys the city entirely.

Atlanta has been reasonably free from organized racketeering and vice. That it should have gained a foothold large enough to implicate a score and a half of enforcement officers in its ramifications comes as astounding news to the vast majority of citizens.

The grand jury is to be commended for the courage it has displayed. It will have the full support of every good citizen in its continued effort to rid the city of police graft. At the same time, the city has full confidence the jury will push its investigation to the desired outcome. That outcome involves punishment of the guilty and removal of every convicted grafter from the police ranks.

THE SWASTIKA

In the days of prehistoric man, the inhabitants of the earth looked thankfully toward the rising sun-toward the coming of light. It meant, literally, the end of darkness.

But as man gradually became more intelligent, more enlightened, the dawn began to mean a great deal more than simply the end of literal darkness. It also symbolized the banishment of intellectual darkness. And it was the swastika, the most ancient of all symbols, which became the emblem of the rising sun.

It became associated with the nature-religions of the Aryan races from Scandinavia to Persia and India. It was linked with the mythical, one-eyed Woden, the Germanic god of war. It adorned the pottery and fretwork of ancient Greece and Egypt. It ornamented the works of art dug from the ruins of Indian civilization in Mexico and Peru, as well as from prehistoric Indian burial grounds in western United States.

The swastika, that ancient symbol of the rising sun, thus was once recognized almost the world over as indicating good fortune, as a sign of better things to come. In Arizona and New Mexico the Indians today look upon it as a token of "good luck."

Perhaps, however, they have never heard of Central Europe, where swaggering dictators attribute to it a similar significance. But, among the free peoples of the world, it has become the sign of anti-God, a symbol of death, murder and despair, a token of persecution, an emblem of brutality and intolerance. For the dictator rulers have, by their actions, so distorted a once honored symbol.

A statistician reports Europe is spending more than $10,000 a minute for guns. Let us take this to heart, meanwhile wondering if love conquers all.

We hear much of child guidance; nothing of the little unfortunate who would be the better for some good wholesome neglect.

Four more giant pandas are en route here.

These are creatures with coats like raccoons, and circles under the eyes, found in Asia and on football trains.

Revolving as rapidly as they do, it is sometimes hard to say if they're French premiers or the Paris Rotary.

THE EUROPEAN CHESS GAME

The approaching agreement between Great Britain and Italy, described as "virtually sealed in advance," marks a move in the international chess game on the European board which contains possibilities of far-reaching significance.

It is altogether well within the bounds of possibility that this agreement may mean the difference between peace and war, may tip the scales in favor of European peace for years to come.

The uncertain factors in the situation, of course, are those two disturbing personalities, Hitler and Mussolini. Ever since they appeared in places of world power there has been the constant element of doubt as to what move either one may make next. Hitler, especially, hasmade scorn for pledged agreements almost an accepted policy.

However, discounting the uncertainties of personal dictators, the British-Italian pact should go far toward removing the Mediterranean as a source of potential seeds of war. With Italy joining Britain and France in cooperation and policy, the last reason for rivalry on the inland sea and the Suez canal is, apparently, removed.

The full significance of the pending treaty, however, can only be realized when it is remembered Hitler is expected to visit Rome in May. The German viewpoint will be radically changed if brought face to face with an Italy united with Britain and France for the neace of the world.

Hitler is believed to have an eye toward the Mediterranean himself. The annexation of Austria was the first step in opening the road toward the Mediterranean for the Reich. The port of Trieste, while nominally Italian, is now actually under economic control of Berlin, thus leading German commerce Mediterraneanward.

Germany and Italy, working hand in hand, would form a dark threat against the stability of the world of today. They would threaten the life line of the British Empire through the Suez Canal and they might, easily, so dominate the Mediterranean as to acquire a stranglehold on world commerce.

And, always, there is the situation in Spain. Spain, in the hands of a Franco dominated by Rome, with Italian troops occupying strategic points, would be a constant threat to France. But, with Italian co-operation, France would feel that threat removed.

Mussolini may have decided it is better policy to end the possibility of tension over the Pyrenees in order to center all his wariness on the Brenner Pass, behind which lurk the guns of the brown-shirted legions of the Reich, the storm troops of Hitler.

The British-Italian pact, therefore, contains more than the germ of a new balance of power; more than a glimmer of hope for avoidance of that general European conflict which the world has feared for months.

MERRILY WE ROLL ALONG

At times the staid halls of the Capitol assume an opera-bouffe atmosphere. Quite often a hard-working citizen is astonished to learn the trials and tribulations of a congressman in earning his annual stipend.

One such meaty bit of news drifted out recently when a committee was advised by a citizen, in the exercise of his normal right to be heard, that the solution of the problem of shifting the navy from the Pacific to the Atlantic rested in the cutting of a canal across the breadth of the land. This, the senate naval affairs committee was told, would require only the expenditure of $1,000,000,000 and the cutting of a four-mile stretch of solid land between the Columbia and Missouri rivers.

The same advisor advocated provision of 20,000,000 "flying automobiles" for the education of civilians as a reserve for military aviation. These would be constructed at a cost as low as "$20 under high mass production." Senator Bone, who signs himself a Democrat and is the representative in legislative halls of the state of Washington, quite succinctly squelched this by remarking that "there wouldn't be a house safe in America." The senator is quite right—he might have added that there are worse things than war. Citizens are in enough danger from lightbrained motorists. Anyone who would get into a $20 flying automobile would not be classified as a mental genius today.

Diplomacy's new headache is trying to make the neighbors feel that your large new fleet of battleships is for strictly medicinal use.

The Japanese don't actually conquer China; they seize and operate railroads. This is the solution that Washington hasn't considered.

Editorial of the Day DISCRETION IS STILL THE BETTER PART

OF VALOR (From The Charlotte Observer) Premier Chamberlain tells his critics that he will eat his hat if it is ever demonstrated that the Britain in the international complexity is unwise.

The stern realist may be safe at that! While he is being and has for weeks been severely censured for his program of barter and trade with governments hostile to Great Britain, Mr. Chamberlain has refused to be bulged out of his groove or to take any step that might even indirectly involve his government in a European war.

It is humiliating to a large section of the British public that their government is being told to stand in its place by Hitler and Mussolini, to keep its hands off and its mouth shut when any of the policies of the dictators are in balance and, above all, to stay out of all issues which may arise as these monarchs pursue their course of annexation these monarchs pursue their course of annexation and subjugation of other peoples.

That is not the traditional British policy, nor one that agrees either with the pridefulness of the people of Great Britain, or the safety and security of the future of the United Kingdom.

But, even so, Premier Chamberlain may know what he's doing, and history may demonstrate, as he feels so assured that it will, the wisdom of his course in keeping his country aloof from all possibilities of being drawn into a continental war.

And that proof may later come in the form of And that proof may later come in the form of

Perhaps, his political recommendations would all be changed if England were at the end of its frantic and feverish large armament building pro-gram instead of at the mere beginning of it.

By IOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

TIME FOR ACTION WASHINGTON, April 13.—The President has promised to make his first real attack on the depression in a relief message to congress and fireside chat on Thursday. The do-nothing months are over; the time for action has come. Since do-nothing policies have always been demanded of the government by business, it's unusually interesting to know whether the thinking of the business community has been changed by surjets of governmental executive.

changed by a winter of governmental stagnation.

The answer appears to be that it has not. In the last few days, four eminently important New York bankers, half a dozen leaders in the affairs of business' whispering gallery, the New York Stock Exchange, and several powerful industrialists have been asked to express their private opinions of the state of the nation, and to offer their own remedies.

Summing up the answers briefly, and perhaps a little unkindly, these distinguished business men were all protoundly gloomy about the state reached by the nation after a winter of governmental inaction. Yet they unanimously suggested that more inaction, only slightly tempered by kindliness to business, was the only policy.

TRIPLE BATTLE CRY Taxes, utilities and the President's "attitude" have become shibboleths in the speech of the business community. The same business leaders, when they were asked to express their views at the start of the new depression, were inclined to minimize one or another of these three problems. This time, their crying out on them was so exactly repetitious, even as to language, that the total effect was almost

In the first place, of course, everyone asked that the President change his "attitude." Some suggested that he ought to make a statement promising to let "the cattle take on fat." Others admitted that to ask a man to change his "attitude" was a trifle impractical, but added that all was probably lost unless the change could be

In the second, everyone wanted a "peace with the utilities." Let the utilities know where they stand, let them make a reasonable profit, or at least be certain how much they are expected to lose, was the reasonable plea of all the business men. Again, they were all vague about how this could be done, however, and those who were most specific simply demanded that the administration retrace its steps on its utilities policy—one of the most popular policies the New Deal has fathered.

A LESSON FOR BUSINESS MEN So much for the program on which all the business men were unanimous. Except for the three things mentioned above there seemed to be no great anxiety to have the administration do anything very specific. And it was exceedingly interesting that, after the matters discussed by all those questioned, the thing next most frequently mentioned was the decline of the President's power in congress. This was viewed as an immensely hopeful sign, since man said, "He won't be able to do much now except talk."

An important footnote to this demand for executive impotence. and one that has a proper place here, is the history of the President's recent railroad message. On the railroad problem, the most pressing in the present depression, and the one offering some hope of solution, the President has accepted his impotence. He has sent large selection of different plans to congress, with a gentle suggestion that something ought to be done.

The result, 99 chances in 100, will be that nothing will be done. Time is too short; opinion is too divided to permit any program to prevail without strong administration backing. And thus the deadly serious railroad problem will be allowed to grow much worse by governmental default, and entirely because the President has been frightened by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, and others who have opposed him in congress. The President's shilly-shallying is a tribute to Senator Wheeler's effectiveness. But it is scarcely a good augury for business, and it offers no proof of the economic virtues of doing nothing. Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Many of our country's troubles—perhaps the greater part of them—can be traced to the fact that so many of our people are not citizens and do not know how to be.

It is generally taken for granted that any person born of American parents, or possessed of naturalization papers, deserves the proud title of citizen; but citizenship depends on something more than a place of birth or an oath of allegiance.

Does a man make himself a gentleman by wearing a dress suit, or make himself a Christian by joining a church?

One who is legally a citizen may be an alien in spirit or an enemy in practice.

A citizen of a free land is all that a king once was, except that s powers and privileges and responsibilities are shared by his

The difference between a king's government and a government by citizens is precisely the difference between a business owned by one man and a business owned by many equal partners.

President Discusses His Attitude Toward Utility 'Pyramids'—Calls Concentration 'Private Socialism.'

("Except where it is absolutely necessary to continued functioning of a geographically integrated operating utility system, the utility holding company with its present powers must go," wrote President Roosevelt in sending to congress on March 12, 1935, a report of the National Power Policy Committee.

A bill to regulate holding companies had already been introduced in congress. "I have been watching with great interest," wrote the President, "the fight being waged against the publicutility holding-company legislation. I have watched the use of investors' money to make the investor believe that the efforts of government to protect him are designed to defraud him. I have government to protect him are designed to defraud him. I have seen much of the propaganda prepared against such legislation—even down to mimeographed sheets of instructions for propaganda to exploit the most far-fetched and fallacious fears."

'Unimpressed" by the propaganda, the President reiterated his recommendation for what opponents labeled a "death-sentence" for holding companies. Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Milner. Mattie Whitner attended Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens at the same time that Willis Milner attended the University of Georgia and the romance that has lasted over half a century began during their school days. They have lived in Atlanta practically all of their married life and are among the most beloved pioneer residents of this section.

Monday's celebration will mark the fourth golden wedding that has been celebrated in the families of Mr. and Mrs. Milner. Ma-jor and Mrs. Whitner, Mrs. Milner's parents, celebrated their 50th anniversary in 1904, and her oldest brother, the late John A. Whitner, and Mrs. Whitner celebrated their anniversary 'n 1932, the anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Milner in 1935 having been the third event.

When Mattle Whitner became the bride of Willis Milner she carried an armful of Marechel Neil roses and the hostesses at Monday's party plan to have the same flowers predominate in the decorations, as the golden yellow rose is particularly appropriate for a golden anniversary. The four sons of the honored couples and their wives will receive with Mr. and Mrs. Milner, and a number of friends will assist in entertaining th. 500 guests.

TREAT is in store for Mrs. A Robert A. Camp, who leaves tomorrow for a visit of several weeks to friends in Virginia and Washington, D. C. First she will go to Charlottesville, that charming and historic spot in the Old Dominion state, where she will be the feted guest of Mrs. Virgil Milton. Another former Atlantan whom Mrs. Camp will visit is Mrs. Raymond C. Hamilton, of Falls Church, Va., who before her 1arriage was Margaret Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Barker, of this city. In the days when Mrs. Camp was Marie Roberts, she and Margaret Barker went to first grade school to-gether, and their devotion to each other has continued through the years.

Mrs. Hamilton is the wife of Major Hamilton, U. S. A., who is now attending the War College in Washington. It is good news to their host of friends here that after his detail there he will go to Fort Benning for duty. Mrs. Camp will find many congenial friends in army circles in Wash-ington, for she is the daughter of Colonel Charles M. Roberts, U.

EXTENSIVE plans are under way up at Sweet Briar College for the annual May Day celebration on May 6-7 and in which seven Atlanta girls will take prominent parts. Atlantans feel a particular interest in the college, for it is the alma mater of many of the city's most charming an Aztec warrior.

This year the students at Sweet Briar are planning a Pan-American festival which will center around the idea of the conquest of the Americans by the incoming horder of European settlers. The scheme is very appropriate because of the current interest in Pan-Americanism and the movement for the fostering of friendship and good will among nations of the western hemisphere.

The conquest of the Incas and Aztecs of South America and Central America by the Spaniards and the conquest of the North American Indians by the English, Dutch and French will be depicted in symbolic dance and panto-mime in the first part of the pageant. The second part will be in the nature of a fiesta with games, plays, songs and dances typical of the various nations of the world. The entire student body will take part in costume.

The Pan-American festival takes place on May 7 and will be followed by an outdoor luncheon, when food of various sections and nations will be served. The festival will be the high light of the two-day celebration and will climax the affair, which opens on May 6 with a horse show and a May Day dance.

Miss Laura G. Rapaport, of New York, will be honor guest and principal speaker at the luncheon to be given today at the Standard Club by the Atlanta section of the National Council of Jewish Women.

MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, Tuesday.—My knowledge of astronomy is confined to finding the big and little dipper and the north star, so I was much intrigued last night to notice a very wide circle surrounding the moon at some distance and a haze around the moon itself. When a child, I was always told this meant rain was coming. I have no idea what caused it, but it was very lovely and sent me to bed feeling I would not regret leaving a rainy countryside this morning.

Alas, the old wives' superstitions were incorrect, for the morning dawned perfectly clear! I rect, for the morning dawned perfectly clear! I longed to stay in Hyde Park and try my horse again this morning to see if we could not establish a better understanding. I rode him yesterday afternoon and found a smooth place in a field and went around and around and around trying to get the rhythm of his gaits, I hope when we are in Hyde Park this summer for a number of consecutive days, that I shall get the feeling for him which I have for "Dot."

We drove as far as Harmon this morning and caught a local train there for New York city. I had hoped to be able to go this afternoon to the Herald Tribune clinic on housing and air-conditioning. Anything that has to do with housing interests me and this clinic was to be held where one could see some new wrinkles on air-conditioning.

I was much interested in Seattle, Wash, to find that even small houses are air-conditioned. In the middle west and the west, they have taken advantage of some modern inventions more rapidly than we have in the case.

Frankly, my chief concern at the moment is how we are going to get decent low-cost housing. One woman wrote me from Washington the other day and asked if I thought it was possible for a family of four people to live decently in two rooms. Another woman tells me that right in the city of Poughkeepsie there are woman tells me that right in the city of Poughkeepsie there are people living under conditions which would not be considered sanitary for animals. She knows of houses where the sewer backs up and keeps the basements completely flooded. Yet, the overcrowding is such that people have to live under these conditions and pay rents which should provide them with decent housing.

which should provide them with decent housing.

I am doing a little shopping today, having some fittings, and at 4:30 am going to speak for Miss Ruth Hill to the personnel group which is working with clients receiving old-age assistance under the social security act. Tonight I shall attend a small dinner given by Mr. Myron Taylor in the interests of the Todhunter School. Then I take the midnight train back to Washington and a very busy life.

BOLERO FROCK.

· If you're slender, you'll revel in the flattery of this charming new design. The skirt flares just enough. The brief bolero, the puff sleeves in dress all work together make you look softly rounded and feminine up above, and very slim below the waist.

·Like all Barbara Bell patterns, 1508-B is very easy to make, and includes a complete, detailed sew chart. Make it up in flat crepe, using a dark shade for the skirt, a light for the blouse and bolero, or plain color for the skirt and print for the blouse and bolero. The very newest way would be to use lace or eyelet batiste for the blouse and bolero, and any kind of soft silk for the skirt. Lace is popular right now, and so is blackwith-white.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

My husband and I have been very happy since we were married and there's no doubt in my mind that he loves me; yet there's one thing that bothers me no end. It is the constant presence of an old girl whom he went with before he knew me and to some extent afterward. I knew she loved him and there was no reason why he shouldn't have married her except that he simply didn't care for her in that way. I have tried to put myself in her place and feeling very sorry for her I have in-vited her to dinner several times with mutual friends. On each of these occasions I have suggested that my husband take her home but he has always managed to

Your Figure, Madame By IDA JEAN KAIN.

THIN GIRL WILL FIND WEIGHT GAIN IMPROVES HER LOOKS. In an age that stresses glamor, the wall flowers are apt to be the girls who are too thin. Curves are prettier than angles—but, more than that, the thin girl lacks vitality. Without vitality you can-not have sparkle and a come ither look.

Normal weight is the basis of vitality and that is the thing that puts a girl over. But if you are inclined to thinness, it is not easy to gain. In fact, it is far more difficult to gain two pounds you need than it would be to acquire 10 pounds you did not need. Underis conditioned by many factors and your gaining program must include adequate rest, sleep, relaxation, carefully planned exercise, fresh air and food big that is nourishing but easily assimilated

As a rule the underweight girl is geared to go and tends to scatter her energy. Adequate rest may be the starting point of a gain in weight, for rest decreases the energy output and enables you to store more calories.

PLEASANT HOMES By ELIZABETH M'RAE BOYKIN.

We've Been Picking Up Tidbits

We've been stepping lively lately, picking up tidbits of rug news. It seems that the all-over borderless designs are everything. These are shown in both narrow and broadloom carpet and are often called "patterned plain" and two-tone effects. Leaf and flower designs continue to lead—with a feeling of texture. By the way, texture effects are being achieved importantly with mottled or stip pled backgrounds. These are tak ing the place of the perfectly plain carpets, for they don't show footmarks or soil so readily.

Appoints Chairmen STATE RELIEF LOAD

on WPA Projects, 22,-479 in November.

Georgia's WPA employment rolls have increased steadily since October and the total at the end of March registration was the highest point since January, 1937, it was announced yesterday. State headquarters announce 37,417 persons are now employed on WPA projects as compared with 32,916 in February; 30,463 in January, 24,053 in December, and 22,479 in November. The low point was reached in October when 21,798 persons were employed and 1,445 were awaiting assignments. Expansion since that time has been made possible by increased allotments and the waiting list has been reduced from a 12-month peak of 4,780 in January to 2,298 at the end of last month.

DUBLIN, Ga., April 13.—Apparently expecting burglars, Jerry Fordham, negro, rigged up a trap, near a window at his home here with a shotgun and a piece of string.

Then Jerry landed in jail on a minor charge, and sent word to a friend to go to the house and get some things for him.

Today the friend, Phil Jackson, another negro, was in a hospital with his left arm almost severed by a shotgun charge, the result of an attempt to go in the window when he found the doors to the house locked. ship campaign.

Plan To Use Moreland-Glenwood Site for Business Hit by Neighbors.

The petition of T. O. Sturdivant, former police chief, to rezone for business his property at Moreland and Glenwood avenues was denied yesterday by the zoning committee of the Atlanta Planning Commission.

Sturdivant appeared before the committee, but the committee sided with a score or more residents of the neighborhood who signed a petition opposing any change.

Mauldin and Mailho May Lead Batters

Fiery Frenchman Ranked High Last Year; Home Town Boy Back in Top Form.

By JACK TROY.

As Atlanta dashes off on another pennant chase today at Ponce de Leon park, that fountain of baseball youth, there is a good chance that in the lineup are two fellows who may, conceivably, contest for the Southern league batting championship this summer. They are: Emil Mailho and Marshall Mailho is probably the best allround outfielder in the Southern league. Last year he ranked high in all departments.

They say that size keeps him out of the major leagues. But if he has a better year than he had last year—and it seems highly possible—not even size will deprive him of the big chance.

stealer, having stolen 65 one year in the Pacific Coast league. The fiery Frenchman is not power hitter, but each year he bobs up with a fine total of twobase hits and no few triples. Mailho definitely has a good chance to contest for the Southern league batting championship.

And so does Marshall Mauldin, Mauldin is no power hitter, either. But he hits a lot of doubles and, since he is getting more distance this season, he may be expected to blast a few home runs and an increased number of triples.

Marshall's current batting form is highly reminiscent of the form he displayed in 1936 as a member of the Knoxville team. He batted .376 that season.

He may not go that high this season, but he is a certainty to hit more than 50 points over his average of last year. There is no question but that he is back in top form, both at bat and afield. The home town boy is the best ead-off man in the Southern eague and a real prospect to get to the majors.

Those Crackers Today Begin Playing In Their Own League

There seems to be a lot of viewing with alarm in connection with the Crackers. They variously are picked fifth, tourth,

And it all seems to be because they couldn't beat the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers. There is talk of a slump.

Well, the answer to that is that several American league clubs are probably going to suf-fer from slumps when they face the Yankees and Tigers this summer, too. The Crackers have faced in their exhibition games against the Athletics, Yankees and Tigers the best pitchers those teams had to offer—pitchers like Williams, Kelley, Thomas, Ross, Caster, Ruffing, Gomez, Bridges and Kennedy.

Are the Crackers supposed to tear the cover off the ball in the spring against such opposition as that?

At any rate, they did get 23
hits off the Yanks in two days, which is not bad. And in the two games with the Yanks and the opener with Detroit, they collected a total of 30 hits-which is an average of 10 hits per game. They secured 11 hits in yesterday's finale.

This is mentioned on the eve of opening day simply

Southern Association Starting 38th Season

40 of 72 Players Who Start Today Will Be Strangers.

By KENNETH GREGORY. Associated Press Sports Writer. With all the fanfare and ballyhoo so customary to attract open-ing day crowds, baseball will re-turn to the Southern association today for its 58th consecutive season.

Unless guesses miss their mark, some 50,000 paying customers will settle down into their seats for the four "openers" after the usual ceremonies of having governors, mayors, movie actresses and other "three-instal" set the first hell inents" get the first ball ball."

This 1938 campaign might conservatively be called an "eight horse" race. On the eve of the return of the national pastime to this league there is more uncertainty prevailing than for several seasons. Generally, those who record the daily happenings for the sports pages have found it difficult to single out a favorite.

ROOKIES AND VETS.

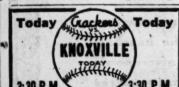

ROOKIES AND VETS. The turnover in players has een tremendous. If managers of the eight clubs stick to the "prob-able" lineups, 40 of the 72 players who take the field tomorrow will be new men. Some are rookies

Major Trammell Scott, the league's new president who succeeded Judge John D. Martin at the helm after the latter's 20-year tenure, will go to Little Rock to attend the opening there between the defending champions and the

As he sets out to battle second pennant, Manager James Thompson (Doc) Prothro faces the campaign with a Little Rock club that was riddled by trades, ales and the draft. He has rounded together a team whose starting eup includes five new players The Travelers won one game and lost three during training. Although Skipper Larry Gilbert of New Orleans believes he has a better balanced team than the one hich started the 1937 campaign he goes to the post with only two players—Catcher Greek George Continued on Fourth Sports Page.

They are opening a new season today against Knoxville in the Southern league. It's their class of baseball. I mean the Southern league. And I don't think a soul among the 18,000 or so folks who attend the opener will be disappointed at the showing of the Crackers, led, for the first time, by 29-year-old

DISMISS THOSE RUMORS.

So any grapevine reports you may have heard to the effect that the Crackers have been staggered by their bellicose grapefruit league sparring partners, and are in no shape to respond to the opening bell in the Southern league heavyweight championship today at the Ponce de Leon arena, may be dismissed or what they are worth.

Fact of the matter is that the prospect of meeting a team in their own league again has so stimulated the Crackers that they may score a knockout in the first round over their Knoxville Smokie rivals.

I wouldn't take anybody's word for it that they're coming out swinging, however. There seem to be too many reports to the contrary. No, sir. I would be at the ringside in person at 3:30 this afternoon when they clear the decks for action. It be a spectacle well worth seeing.

Atlanta's civic baseball pride annually is challenged on this day. Citizens of New Orleans, Birmingham, Nashville and Memphis defy our good citizens to pack more people in the park than they can.

The Kop-the-Kup Kampaign has been on in dead earnest at New Orleans for some time now. Last year the New Orleans folks slipped one over when, by persuasive methods of one sort and another, 21,025 fans were lured to Heinemann

That gathering won the Class A attendance trophy with room to spare. And a great swelling of chests ensued. The Pelican fans were a bit insulting. Some asked, "Is Atlanta still in the league?"

Such questions as that naturally cannot go unanswered. New Orleans always offers the keenest sort of competition the Kop-the-Kup Kampaign. Only a few years ago, they overflowed the park by admitting school children upon receipt of bottle tops, used erasers, pieces of chalk, old kites and last

Judge Martin ruled the New Orleans attendance out on the grounds that only the coin of the realm is good for admittance to the Southern league parks on open-

But it simply gives one an idea as to what lengths they'll go in the Crescent City to maintain their civic baseball prideand Kop the Kup.

IT'S ATLANTA'S YEAR.

It would seem that this is the year Atlanta should show every other Class A town in the league what's what in the matter of attendance.

Atlanta has supplied her first Southern league president in Trammell Scott. He already has done a great job in advance of the season's opening.

This provides a real incentive for the finest town in the minor leagues. All that remains is for the fans to turn out in such numbers that awarding of the attendance trophy-by-President Scott—will remain only a formality.

After that, Manager Paul Richards and his merry men can top things off by winning the Southern league

Atlanta is the greatest town in the minors, has been, in fact, top town for years. Nowhere is there to be found in all baseball finer, more loyal fans.

Many are inclined to select New Orleans both as the attendance and pennant winner. But I, for one, heartily doubt that Atlanta fans will let them realize the first on or that the Atlanta Crackers will give them much encouragement on the second score.

This should be, by all rights, Atlanta's year. The mere fact that we finally were able to contribute a president and break the old Southern league ring should provide inspiration enough to sweep the board clean-in attendance, pennant race, Shaughnessy play-off and then the Dixie series.

A pennant is possible. The Crackers don't have to meet the Yankees or Tigers any more this season. And they won't be likely to press against the teams in their own league.

HOW THEY MAY FINISH.

Picking the finishers in the current Southern league race is almost as hazardous as attempting to name the winners in almost any Kentucky Derby.

So many things are left to chance. Injuries, failure of key men to come through, and various other things can happen to a team in a pennant race.

But the thought persists that the Atlanta baseball club will be in the thick of the race from start to finish. Jack Bolling improves daily at first base.

And Al Rubeling, the replacement for Hugh Luby, may be a bit slow starting, but he will come around in a relatively short time. He only needs to steady down a bit, as he already has proved how he can field. He is certain to hit. The pitching staff is coming around nicely and the veteran members of the team are expected, on the whole, to show some improvement over last season. Added team speed, defense and pitching will make the Crackers a more interesting team. This writer's pick for the Southern league finish in-cludes Atlanta, Memphis, New Orleans, Little Rock, Chattanooga, Nashville, Bir-mingham and Knoxville.

If it develops Atlanta needs any help, President Earl Mann and Paul Richards can get it.

Willis Holds Jackets to Four Hits; 9th-Inning Rally Short.

nine yesterday afternoon on the Rose Bowl field. A ninth-inning rally by the Jackets fell short after they had scored three runs.

Ken Willis, 'Gator backfield ace, was on the mound for the Flori-dans and hurled fine ball, allowing only four hits. The Jackets load-ed the bases in the third with no outs, but Willis retired the side with but one run. In the ninth Ebdon's triple and two errors paved the way for three runs, but the 'Gators ended the rally and the game with a fast double play.

Florida scored in the third when Hartman walked, stole second and came home on Hick's single. They scored again in the sixth when Ivey reached first on fielder's choice, stole second and third, and scored on Robinson's single. Gibson's single and Ebdon's triple gave Tech a run in the sixth.

The Hardage men came back in the seventh to score three. Two hits, a triple by Mulcahy and Willis' single, two errors and a double steal put the game on ice.

HOW TO WATCH A BASEBALL GAME

and not miss the finer points

The true sportsman, as a spectator, brings as much intelligent concentration to the baseball same as the players do. To enjoy an afternoon's or night's exhibition of this great sport requires a mind that is at peace, unharassed, fully focused on the same itself. One man down or two men down? That makes a difference to that runner on third. Does it make the same difference to you? Will they pass this batter? That depends, perhaps, on who's the next man up. Baseball takes on a new zest when you cease to regard it as a simple muscular spectacle and look upon it as a battle of wits, as well. To watch it well, you must keep YOUR wits about you.

And you can't do that if you are fatigued by a long struggle with traffic to get to the parkif you are worried about where you parked your car several blocks away—if you are dreading the confusion of after-game driving home.

With one fell swoop, as the saying goes, you do away with these obstacles to full enjoyment when you use the street car to take you to the same and back.

Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle.

3- MR. ZERO.

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

"Oh, the skies won't fall. There

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE:
Gay Hardwicke, marooned in London with her Aunt Agatha while her parents are in Madeira defending a lawsuit which may impoverish the family, is in the midst of a shampoo when Marcia Thrait phones her to say she is sailing the next day to visit her Uncle George in Java. Gay's old schoolmate says she must see her. In a roundabout way, Marcia arrives at the fact that her sizer. Sylvia, who a year ago married the wealthy and much older Sir Francis Colesborough, is "in another jam" and wants to see Gay. Remembering their school says when it was she, not Marcia, who always had to get Sylvia out of her jams, Gay leaves but meets the very attractive blonde, Bylvia. Trapped that Sir Francis has forbidden Sylvia to play cards, after having lost 600 pounds at baccarat. A mysterious Mr. Zero phones her asking if she wants to earn 200 pounds. She does and substitutes an empty envelope for a report on sabotage in the dispunch box of a home secretary attache named Lushington while the Colesboroughs. Now he wants more official papers and threatens to tell Sir Francis for Sylvia out of an increase of the report and receives the marcia darkers of night, Now he wants more official papers and threatens to tell Sir Francis for Sylvia contest them for him. Algy Somers, who is in Lushingtons office, takes Gay out dancing. Now Go On WITH THE STORY. WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE:

I went down to the Wessex-Gardners, as you know, and I did not open my despatch-case until about midnight, when went up to my room for the ight. When I did open it, there night. When I did open it, there was a plain manila envelope right on top of the other papers. It bore no address, and there was a sheet of blank foolscap inside. That is why I asked whether you had noticed the address on the envelope you brought me." "But. sir-

It was therefore something in the nature of a family party, but I also wished to take the opportunities it would afford of some quite informal conversations with Beaufort Wessex-Gardner and Francis Colesborough. They are both undertaking very large government contracts. This question of sabotage would affect them."

Algy hesitated, and asked a question.

point—"it has been suggested that it would have been far more credible that an attempt to steal the papers should be made here, where the fact that I was expecting them was known, and their nature if not known was at least guessed at, rather then at Wellings, where no one could reasonably be supposed to have any information on the subject."

Algy had been thinking. His thoughts made a clear and very unpleasant pattern. He wanted to get up, to shout out the fury and anger that filled him. But he did not do either of these that Bingham Wessex-Gardners. Bing-, point-"it has been suggested that

Mr. Lushington inclined his mead.

The most nearly certain days.

Orawing of a small section of the sun with a few sunspots.

There was no good reason for those fears. The year came and went, and the earth kept spinning along in its journey around the sun—as it had been doing for years it had been doing for years. Let us, instead, keep on try-sust ages.

The fact that the world did not end at that time, has not kept other prophecies of the sort from being made. From time to time, being made. From time to time, someone has come forth with the statement that the end would come in such and such a year.

In my own lifetime, I have read reports of several persons who said the last day was close at hand. The years have come, and the years have gone, and all statements dated before this year have proved false.

The people who say such things usually call themselves "religious leaders," but I have not heard of the head of any large church stat-

They had the idea that something. The most nearly certain danger, in the Bible promised the last day from the viewpoint of scientists is that the sun will "burn out."
Every day of the year, the sun gives forth an enormous amount of fiery energy, and it is figured that some day it must burn its last. Without sunshine, plants could not grow on the earth and people would freeze to death. This means that a burnt-out sun would spell "the end of the world" as far as the human race is concern-

Yet we need not worry. The sun is of such vast size that it can be expected to burn for millions and millions of years. After speaking of the great amount of energy the sun is radiating each day, Professor Forest Ray Moulton says:

"At this rate, it will radiate away in 50,000,000 years as much mass as there is on the earth, but it will not lose even 1 per cent of its own mass until after the

GOOD MORNING! HOME OWNERSHIP ADVANTAGES

By W. D. HILLEY, Sales Manager Jefferson Mortgage Company

PERMANENCY: As a home owner, you develop neighborhood friendships that last for CASH EQUITY: Owning a home is like having a savings account. In an emergency money can always be borrowed with home as security. CREDIT: Most home owners can open charge accounts without difficulty. Owning his own home usually gives him a good standing with merchants.

THRIFT HABITS: Buying your home develops habits of thrift that endure after the home is paid for and that lead to other investments. RESPONSIBILITY: Owning your home gives you a stake in your community—a justifiable pride that gives you a sense of responsibility for helping to maintain the whole neighborhood at a high level. INTEREST IN CIVIC AND MUNICIPAL AF-FAIRS: Because you own your own home, all civic activities take on a new significance. This is an important item that is being neglected on the part of most PRIDE: Pride of possession inspires you to work around home and garden. You will (should) take pleasure in making the exterior of your home express your individuality. The home is yours. INDEPENDENCE OTHER THAN FINANCIAL: Owning your home, you can live as you please, with no interference from anyone. You are not limited to "no children." You can keep as many pets as you want, both indoors and outdoors. SHRINKAGE: If you buy a lot 50x200, it will always be that size. Is not subject to rule by a board of managers. Did you ever know of a piece of real estate to be declared "without value"? Many other forms INVESTMENT: If you already own your own home, no less than 30% of your investments should be in well located real estate for solidity. Many great fortunes have been built up almost entirely through real estate.

By referring to the real estate listings in the WANT AD PAGES of The Constitution, you'll find the best home and home site values ever offered; homes in all sections of the city at prices you can afford to pay with terms within the reach of Lieutenant Governor Says New Deal Abandoned in State Organization.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.-(A)—Terming the leadership and candidates of the Democratic state organization "boss-ridden," Lieutenant Governor Kennedy asserted tonight conservatives within the party have abandoned the principles of the New Deal.

Kennedy, seeking the Dem cratic nomination as governor, and other members of the ticket sup-ported by the CIO and United States Senator Guffey spoke at a rally at which Guffey assailed Matthew McCloskey, coleader of the Philadelphia Democratic organization.

Guffey, who split with the state committee over its indorsement of Governor Earle for United States senator and Charles Alvin Jones for governor, said he had received no answer to his assertion last week that "scheming and double dealing" by McCloskey was re-sponsible for "chaotic conditions" in the Democratic party in Penn

Railroads' Non-Obligation to Postoffice Used in Curtailing Efforts.

South Carolina supreme court decision that railroads are not obligated to carry the mails was cited yesterday by counsel for the Seaboard Airline Railway Company which is seeking to discontinue or curtail train service on lines in Alabama and Georgia The railroad's attorneys pointed to the South Carolina decision during a hearing before the Geor-gia Public Service Commission on a petition to discontinue two trains daily between Atlanta and Birmingham, Ala., and two trains daily between Savannah and Delegations of citizens along the routes protested mainly against curtailment of mail service. The railroad's petition said it was losing $69,000 annually on the line serving Birmingham and Atlanta. On this route, the petition stated, traffic in Georgia during the traffic in Georgia during the month of March amounted to about five passengers daily.

Permission was asked to continue trains No. 32 and 33 between Atlanta and Birmingham. Chairman Walter McDonald of commission called for addiinformation regarding freight movements, express ship-ments and cost of equipment. He said a decision on the application would not be forthcoming until

REV. 'BOB' SCHULER SPEAKS AT REVIVAL

Methodist Leader Hopes for More Tabernacles.

Hope for the return of a great revival movement in Methodism was expressed here yesterday by the Rev. Robert (Bob) Schuler, pastor for 18 years of Trinity Methodist church in Los Angeles said to be the largest church in southern Methodism with a congregation of more than 5,000 embers. Schuler last night conducted the second revival in a 10-day meet-ing at the Wesley Memorial

Schuler is looking forward to the building of tabernacles in all large centers for evangelistic activities. He declared that the hope of Methodism, both in the north and south, is a revival of religion and that union will never save Methodism unless there is a mighty spiritual movement as

Army Indicates It Won't Protest Georgia Highway Patrol Insignia

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(P) War Department officials said today the department probably would not pro'sst insignia worn by the Georgia State Highway Patrol if worn on a uniform distinctly different from army garb.

Major General George Van Horn Mosely, fourth corps area commander, recently asked the department to rule on whether insignia worn by the patrol, in the form of bars and leaves, indicating rank, infringed army insignia insignia, widely used by police forces and similar organizations, unless the uniform on which they were worn was sufficiently similar to army uniforms in color and cut to be easily confused.

Complaints about the similarity of insignia worn by the Georgia
